Who we are...

Astara is a non-profit spiritual development provider offering resources to help those who are interested in exploring more deeply who they are and who they might become. We bridge the gap between contemporary eastern and western religions, presenting their mysteries in context with the wisdom of ancient religious truths.

For over 65 years, Astara has existed to provide its members with knowledge of the laws of the universe, so that they may learn to make decisions based upon their own Higher Guidance. Spiritual self-realization is emphasized and information is provided to enable each individual to progress spiritually.

Through a series of studies called "Astara's Book of Life" Degree Lessons, you will learn various techniques to help you clarify the meaning of your experiences, and particularly significant, those in Higher Realms of Consciousness that do their best to illuminate it for you.

Members tell us time and again that the best method they've found for understanding the vast material about the nature of your very being, your relation to God, to all sentient beings, cosmogony, ageless principles and so much else are found in the 176 lessons of Astara's Book of Life. These Lessons are Ageless Wisdoms, and more, offering in one source what some spend half a lifetime seeking through countless single-focused books and seminars.

Astara's Degree Lessons are a door to a great repository of the wisdom of great ages, philosophies, sacred texts and codes of living.

Begin your Spiritual Journey

These times call for, a different way of being, of doing, of moving into a sustainable, whole and loving future. We are all asked to be aware, willing and helpful participants in the changes taking place now and to come.

Ageless Wisdom has told of these changes; Astara, and you, were born for them.
